👉 Step 6: Share Your Experience

Explain how AceCloud has helped with your project, workload, or cloud infrastructure requirements.

Please share your genuine experience, including:

- The challenge you were facing
- The AceCloud product or service you used
- How AceCloud helped you
- The results or improvements you experienced

Do

- Mention AceCloud by name where the platform's format allows.
- Clearly identify the AceCloud workload, product, or service you actually used.
- Describe your real experience. Explain the use case, setup, results, challenges, and outcome where relevant.
- Include useful specifics. Mention details such as deployment experience, performance, cost, support, usability, or operational impact when you can verify them.
- Be balanced. Include genuine strengths, limitations, or areas that could be improved.
- Compare only from experience. Mention another provider or product only if you have used or evaluated it.
- Complete verification honestly. Use your real identity, role, company, and product experience wherever the platform requires them.

Don't

- Don't leave a vague review such as "Great service, highly recommend."
- Don't submit a review based on someone else's experience.
- Don't invent numbers, outcomes, workloads, or product capabilities.
- Don't hide genuine limitations simply to make the review more positive.
- Don't submit substantially identical reviews across multiple platforms.
- Don't manipulate ratings, or use abusive, insulting, or offensive language. Your rating should reflect your actual experience.
- Don't make unsupported accusations, or present rumours or hearsay as facts.
- Don't turn a specific experience into an exaggerated or misleading narrative.

Important — Reviews and incentives

- Do not mention any reward, voucher, incentive, payment, compensation, or this programme anywhere in the review itself.
- Do not refer readers to the programme or explain why you are submitting the review.
- Follow the individual review platform's applicable disclosure requirements.
